MONDAY FEBRUARY 14, 1887

The Committee from the California Legislature which visited Reno yesterday and examined the Truckee river for forty miles, showed an excellent disposition and will undoubtedly do all they can to remedy the sawdust evil. The Truckee people also show a desire to be fair in the matter and the saw mill men show no desire to oppose the measure at all. The matter has never been so well presented to the California people as at this session. Messrs. Pike and Drury and in fact our whole committee made it their especial business to impress upon them the sanitary side of the question. They met with a hearty response from all the Committee and the citizens of Truckee as well. Mr. Mason of the Truckee Republican said that so long as it was simply an issue between the fish business and the lumber business they would oppose stopping it, but when it became a question of life and death they would not hesitate at all.

It will cost the saw mill men a great deal of money to put in works to carry their sawdust to a furnace and burn it, and if they do so Nevada should appreciate it. The Truckee Lumber Company especially will be put to great pains. They run by water power and have every inch of river full of mills, box factories, furniture factories, paint shops, etc., and will have to carry their sawdust a long ways, perhaps over the river, to burn it as they have no use for it as fuel. It will cost something to get fixed for burning up the refuse but once it is done there will be satisfaction that will go far towards compensating the companies.

As soon as practicable after the dumping of sawdust and scraps from the factories into the river ceases, a gang of workmen should go up the river when the water is low and tear out, burn or dislodge by giant powder cartridges the banks of rotten material lodged in a hundred places behind huge boulders or on the banks. It will be years and years before the nuisance is abated if this is not done. Floods fail to dislodge them, and they lie year after year rotting in the hot weather and covering up with slime in the cold, sending down fever and death to all who touch the river.

The Carson Appeal has a sensible editorial on the talkative legislative member, and shows how a quiet man who has no aspirations to become the leader of the body always gets away with the garrulous egotist who seems to think it his duty to oppose every bill not introduced by himself.

The proposition of the GAZETTE relative to a change in our legislative system, allowing a portion of each Assembly to hold over, seems to be meeting with favorable consideration by the press of the State.

Senator Osburn's bill which prescribes a penalty for selling tobacco in any form to children should pass and be rigidly enforced.

When Reno gets good sewers and water free from sawdust her advantages as a place of residence will be doubled.

Mexican War Pensioners.
WASHINGTON, February 14.
The Commissioner of pensions has had prepared a letter of instruction, and blank forms of application and affidavits of witnesses for the use of applicants for pensions under the Mexican pension law of January 29, 1887. The blanks he thinks will facilitate the business of his office and enable applicants to have their rights properly adjusted without unnecessary correspondence, trouble or expense. The Commissioner expects to have the blanks printed and ready for use on Wednesday next, February 16. He invites a direct application to his office by expectant pensioners and upon receipt of an individual application an appropriate letter of instruction and a set of blanks will be forwarded to the applicant. The letters of instructions are full and explicit, and the blank forms plain, and all may be easily understood without the necessity of a legal education.

A Sickening Spectacle.
CHICAGO, February 14.
A bloody battle to a finish with skin gloves occurred Saturday in a barn five miles south of this city. George Lardwood of New York and Frank Stirk of Philadelphia, weighing each about 160 pounds, fought 12 rounds, ending in a complete knock-out of the latter, who, in the 11th round had to be lifted to his feet by his seconds, and was a mass of pounded flesh and blood. Lardwood was not much punished. The fight was for $300 a side and gate money. Twenty spectators paid $10 each for tickets. During the last three rounds Stirk's eyes were closed and he could do nothing, but in spite of the protests of his friends, and even of his opponent, he persisted in standing up to be knocked down until rendered completely unconscious by a terrible blow on the jugular.

Created a Sensation.
WILMINGTON, DEL. February 14.
At all Catholic churches in this diocese yesterday, the pastors read a pronouncement of Bishop Curtis, forbidding balls given with the intention of raising money for religious purposes, or the holding of picnics, excursions or entertainments of any kind, for the benefit of anything religious or charitable, without the approval and consent of the Bishop. The decree was received with some surprise and created considerable of a sensation.

A Thin Explanation.
WASHINGTON, February 14.
The President has allowed the act appropriating $400,000 a year to provide arms and equipments for the militia to become a law without his signature. The constitutional limitation of 10 days, within which he should have acted on the bill, expired on Saturday. His failure to sign the bill is regarded as an oversight, as he was not known to object to any of its provisions.

A Ruined Town.
LYONS, Mich., February 14.
The ice gorge is frozen solid to a depth of from five to ten feet. The river is still flowing through the main streets and the merchants are building trestle works to their stores, only to find their goods frozen in ice. The cold weather has settled the water nearly a foot, but has made work almost impossible.

Congressional Proceedings.
WASHINGTON, February 14.
At 2:15 P. M., a motion by Cameron to postpone till to-morrow the Eads-Tahantepec bill, was rejected, yeas 24, nays 28. The naval bill was therefore laid aside and the Eads bill taken up. LATER—The Senate by a vote of 37 to 17, has taken up the Cameron bill providing for ten new cruisers.

Clearing House Report.
BOSTON, February 14.
The managers of the leading clearing houses of the United States report the total gross exchanges for the week ending February 13, to be $973,830,000, a decrease over the corresponding week of last year of one and eight-tenths per cent.

Cremated in Jail.
NASHVILLE, February 14.
A jail at Morfreesboro, Tenn., was burned yesterday morning, and three men confined in it perished in the flames. The fire broke out at 12:30 in the office, from an unknown cause. Jailor Jackson, who was asleep up stairs, rushed down and opened the doors, and 10 men in the upper floor cages escaped, but three men in one of the lower cages could not be reached. They cried piteously for help until the flames reached them.

Murder and Suicide.
MILWAUKEE, February 14.
Charles Klose, a Scheelsingerville, Wisconsin, saloon-keeper, loaded two shot guns last evening and emptied the contents of one into his wife's head as she was kneading bread, killing her instantly. He then tried to shoot himself, but merely succeeded in blowing away one cheek. He locked the doors, poured kerosene over the furniture and set the house ablaze. When the neighbors tried to enter, he loaded one of the guns and blew out his brains.

Helping Their Friends.
NEW YORK, January 14.
When Bismarck dissolved the German Reichstag, the Socialists of this city met and promised to collect $5,000 for the election expenses for 20 Socialists members of the German Legislative body. Yesterday the sum was $30 over the $5,000 mark.

A Big Yacht Wager.
NEW YORK, February 14.
R. T. Bush, owner of the Coronet, and Caldwell & Colt, owners of the Dauntless, will meet to arrange the details of an ocean race between their keel schooners for $100,000 per side. The understanding is that the yachts will start from Sandy Hook on March 15 for Queensland.

FOREIGN DISPATCHES

Pugnacious Portuguese.
LONDON, February 14.
Advices from Zanzibar state that the Sultan has refused to comply with the demand of the Portuguese government of Mozambique to surrender the territory claimed by Portugal, but recognized in anglo-German agreement with Sultan, as belonging to Zanzibar, and has referred the matter to the friendly Powers. Portugal has on this account ruptured diplomatic relations with the Sultan and has hauled down the Portuguese flag from the Consulate at Zanzibar. In addition to this, a number of Portuguese men-of-war have proceeded to Tungi, a bombardment of which is threatened.

More War Preparations.
VIENNA, February 14.
Herr Tisza, the Hungarian Premier, arrived here yesterday and after conferring with the Emperor, he attended a meeting of a council of ministers, called to consider the question of an early assembling of the delegations and the amount of credit to be asked. The staff of the Seyer rifle factory has been quadrupled. Repeating rifles cannot be supplied for the whole army until the end of May.

An American Girl's Marriage.
ROME, February 14.
Miss Terry of South Carolina, who has been received into the Catholic church by Mgr Sallua, will marry Count Mucelli at Municipal on February 10th. Cardinal Gibbons, if his engagements permit, will afterwards perform the religious ceremony in the chapel of the American college. The Cardinal confirmed Miss Terry's mother.

German Affairs.
BERLIN, February 14.
The Vossische Zeitung says that Emperor William will issue a manifesto on the 19th inst., and that the Government hopes the lateness of its appearance will prevent its discussion by the press. A fort erected at Cunnersdorf, an exact duplicate of the French frontier forts, was destroyed in 48 hours by a new explosive.

Respectfully Declines.
PARIS, February 14.
A dispatch from St. Petersburg says General Von Schweinitz, the German ambassador to Russia, recently counseled the Czar as to whether he would remain neutral in the event of war between Germany and France, and that the Czar refused to make any engagement respecting the matter.

The Electric Light.
Most of the leading business houses on Commercial Row were lighted by electricity Saturday evening, giving that part of town a decided city appearance. The dining-room of the Depot Hotel has two lamps, the light of which was noticed by the overland passengers, and resulted in the filling of nearly every chair in that spacious apartment. The electric lamps are all placed in town and the next time the current is turned on it comes to stay. In order to insure a perfect light it is necessary to use a larger cable for transmitting the power at the reduction works; also to place an automatic governor at the water-wheel. The cable was shipped from San Francisco Saturday, and but for the storm, would have reached here to-day. The governor is here and all will be in working order in a day or two.

Mrs. Alt's Masquerade.
Mrs. Alt's masquerade which will take place here on the 23d inst., promises to be a great success. The prizes are numerous and valuable. Several already are getting costumes ready. They All Fall in Line.
The suspicious old lady who formerly was so careful to subject every article to a critical examination before buying of F. Levy & Bro. has now fallen into the habit of leaving her spectacles at home and trusting entirely to their statements. This is because she has found out just as all other customers do, that this firm never misrepresents anything they have to sell in the slightest particular.

Their Business Booming.
Probably no one thing has caused such a general revival of trade at S. J. Hodgkinson & Co., drug store as their giving away to their customers of so many free trial bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption. Their trade is simply enormous in this very valuable article from the fact that it always cures and never disappoints. Coughs, colds, asthma, Bronchitis, Croup, and all throat and lung diseases quickly cured. You can test it before buying by getting a trial bottle free large bottle $1. Every bottle warranted.

No other medicine is so reliable as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral for colds, coughs and all derangements of the respiratory organs tending towards consumption. In all ordinary cases it is a certain cure, and it affords sure relief for the asthmatic and consumptive, even in advanced stages of disease.

THE STORM.

Unusual Efforts to Keep the Over-land Open.

The present snow-storm is the most severe which has visited the line of the Central Pacific for three years. Yesterday the Reno yard was full of abandoned freight trains, the most of the engines on this division having been kept busy on the snow plows which were kept in constant motion along the whole line of the snow-belt, which extended across the Sierras from foot-hills to foot-hills. Last evening's west-bound overland passed here nearly an hour late and was detained beyond Truckee until after daylight this morning. The east-bound train due here at 6:30 will not arrive until late this afternoon.

A JOURNEY TO MEXICO.

How the Land of the Aztecs Impressed an American.

(LEWIS D. BROWN.)

The completion of the Mexican Central Railway has brought the City of Mexico to within six days' travel of Columbus Sunday morning, you reach Kansas City on Monday; La Junta, Tuesday; El Paso, Wednesday; Chihuahua, Thursday; Zacatecas, Friday, arriving at your destination in time for supper on Saturday.

But a continuous journey of 3,100 miles by rail is too long and too wearisome when one travels for recreation and knowledge. A better itinerary than that given would give a day each to Kansas City, Santa Fe, El Paso, Zacatecas, and Queretaro, leaving Aguar Calientes, Chihuahua and Las Vegas for the return trip. The extra time required would be more than counterbalanced by the added comfort and profit of the journey.

One of the measures of distance is money. Ordinarily a railroad ticket from Columbus to Mexico and return costs something more than $200. Last July this rate being temporarily reduced to $70.25, I embraced the opportunity to spend a short vacation south of the Rio Grande. Tarrying a week to attend the great educational meeting held at Topeka, in five days more I was at the Hotel de Turbide, in the Mexican capital. The Mexican express train on the Santa Fe road is driven the 400 miles across Kansas in less than 20 hours. At La Junta, Colorado, 84 miles west of the State line, passengers take breakfast, and those bound for Denver change coaches. Another run of 100 miles and Colorado is left behind, New Mexico being entered through Batton tunnel the only one on the entire route. At sundown Las Vegas is reached, a good supper is served, and many passengers stop off to visit the hot springs and enjoy the excellent baths and superb mountain scenery. At midnight the train arrives at Lamy, where the road to Santa Fe, 18 miles distant, branches off. Three hours later passengers for California change coaches at Albuquerque. At Riocon, which is about 1,000 miles from Kansas City, the road to Guaymas leaves the main line. In 53 hours after leaving Kansas City my train arrived at El Paso. Here Mexican officials examined the trunks and traveling bags that were to cross the Rio Grande, and I exchanged some United States currency for Mexican silver at a premium of 31 per cent. On this occasion I first learned the practical use of the flat in monetary matters. A United States silver dollar, although containing less precious metal than the Mexican dollar, was worth even in Mexico $1.31 cents in the money of the latter country. This was due to the fact that the balance of trade between the two countries was in favor of the United States, and that Mexican silver outside of Mexico sells at bullion prices.

With but two hours' detention at the custom's office, having boarded the Mexican Central train which had backed over the narrow and shallow river, I was soon in El Paso del Norte, and for the first time in my life on Mexican soil. I had seen little, low, brown adobe houses in Colorado, New Mexico and Texas. I had already seen the New Mexican who is a counterpart of his old brother in old Mexico, so that aside from the strange language and strange dress of the people, there was but little that was new to me. I had, therefore, ample time for reflection. And who but he that has traveled in foreign countries can appreciate the mingled emotions of regret, curiosity and pleasure that one always feels when he crosses the line that separates his nation from another? Before sundown on this hot day my train had traversed 50 miles of the sandy, cactus-covered desert of Mexico. The next morning I breakfasted at the railway restaurant in the city of Chihuahua, eating a square American meal. For the comfort of the traveling public similar restaurants have been established at convenient points along the entire line of the Mexican Central. Indeed, in so far as this railway is concerned everything except the second and third class coaches is American. I have never seen better pullman service than that on this road.

Although it was in the rainy season, I was struck with the scanty vegetation of the country. Cactus plants, the low mesquite bushes, and some coarse grass constitute the only voluntary vegetable growth. I saw an occasional halcyon, whose owner had by irrigation succeeded in growing some cottonwood trees for ornament, and some orange and lemon trees for his own use. But for agricultural purposes one good county in the Miami Valley is worth more than the whole State of Chihuahua, which in area is two and one-half times that of Ohio.

For grazing and mining purposes the Mexican plateau and Sierra Madre mountains compare favorably with the plateau and the mountains in New Mexico and Arizona. The absence of springs of fresh water, and of running streams I could not notice. It has been stated on good authority that the total length of bridges in the 35 miles between Hamilton and Dayton, Ohio, exceeds the total length of the bridges in the 1,224 miles between El Paso del Norte and the city of Mexico. The railroad through this country is a great boon to the people who live far from the irrigating ditches. At many stations along the road, women and young girls crowded by the side of the locomotive, begging the engineer to fill their coarse jars with fresh water. Requests of this kind are usually granted, and in return for the favor the Mexican peons assist in protecting the railway against the attacks of Indians and other robbers.

El Paso is nearly 4,000 feet above the level of the sea. The railway in extending toward the south makes an ascent which, with unimportant exceptions, is gradual. At Zacatecas the height of 8,065 feet is reached. The city of Mexico is 1,000 feet lower than this. It will be readily understood that one does not suffer from heat on the Mexican plateau. Indeed, I found it necessary to wear extra clothing, including a light overcoat mornings and evenings while I was in Mexico.

When I reached the city it was dusk. Hailing a cab-man in the Spanish at my command, I was driven to my hotel and directly was sleeping like a baby, in what was once the palace of the Emperor Iturbide, who was shot 63 years ago for treason to his country.

In order to get a good view of Mexico City, the valley of Mexico and the volcanoes of Popocatepetl and Iztaccihuatl, I climbed to the top of the stairs of one of the towers of the great cathedral, on the first evening after my arrival in the city. The sight was a grand one, but it scarcely answered to the description given by Bayard Taylor. The city lies in the central portion of the valley, 20 by 40 miles in length. The houses are built close together, and they are constructed either of stone or bricks. The narrow streets flat roofs, the processions of donkeys laden with their burdens, the glistening surface of the lakes adjoining the city, the villages in the distance, the mountains inclosing the valley and the twin volcanoes, their summits covered with eternal snows, make up a picture wonderful to behold, and not soon to be forgotten. I lingered long to enjoy the scene, and did not descend to the plaza below until the sun had sunk behind Chapultepec, and his last rays for that July day were coloring with gold the lofty hills east of the chapel at Guadalupe Hidalgo. From the tower my guide pointed out the battlefields of Contreras, Churubusco and Molino del Rey. My interest in the subject having thus been quickened I spent the rest of the evening in reading an account of General Scott's campaign of 1847.

Detective Thacker of Wells, Fargo & Co., who returned from Palisade on his way to the Bay, Saturday evening, informed a GAZETTE reporter that the two masked men who recently beat and robbed W. F. & Co's agent at the above place, have been arrested and held to answer the action of the Grand Jury of Eureka county. The names of the arrested men are Billy Ham and Henry Stevenson, a couple of foot-racers who were in this part of the State last season, and who, at the time of the robbery were engaged as bar-keeper and cook at Palisade. Mr. Thacker thinks their conviction is a certainty.

What True Merit Will Do.

The unprecedented sale of "Boschee's German Syrup" within a few years, has astonished the world. It is without doubt the safest and best remedy ever discovered for the speedy and effectual cure of coughs, colds and the severest lung troubles. It acts on an entirely different principle from the usual prescriptions given by physicians, as it does not dry up a cough and leave the disease still in the system, but on the contrary, removes the cause of the trouble, heals the parts affected and leaves them in a purely healthy condition. A bottle kept in the house for use when the diseases make their appearance, will save doctors' bills, and a long spell of serious illness. A trial will convince you of these facts. It is positively sold by all druggists and general dealers in the land. Price, 75 cents, large bottles. nov29yl

THE SAWDUST QUESTION.

A Consultation Between California and Nevada Legislators.

In accordance with an item which appeared in Saturday's GAZETTE, a number of Nevada legislators went to Truckee last Saturday evening, where yesterday morning they met a joint committee of the California Legislature who came to this side of the mountains to investigate the sawdust question about which people along the Truckee river have been complaining so long. A conference of two or three hours at Truckee convinced the California delegation that they should know something more about the effects of the sawdust nuisance, so they accepted an invitation of the Nevadans to come to Reno and confer with the physicians and other leading citizens, relative to the effect of sawdust on the health of people who use water from the Truckee. At six o'clock they arrived here on a special train and an elegant banquet was given them at the Depot Hotel, at which were many Renaites including nearly all the medical fraternity of this vicinity. The cause of grievance was placed before the Californians by Doctors Dawson, Bishop, Bergstein, and Lewis, and Messrs. Lindsey, Boardman, Powning and Alexander, whose appeals for justice at the hands of the Californians were favorably received, their Chairman saying at the conclusion of the conference, that the people of this place had made friends of the entire California joint committee. The delegation from Sacramento consisted of Senators Jones, Sargent and Walrath, and Assemblymen Lewis, Sykes, Williams, O'Grady, Carr and McGowan, accompanied by F. D. Ryan, Chief Clerk of the Assembly, and Committee Clerks, H. Hart and George Peckham. The conference closed on the arrival of the west-bound train when the Californians left for home. The feeling here is that our people succeeded in satisfying our neighbors that measures should be at once taken to forever stop the dumping of sawdust into the finest stream on this side of the Sierras. Those Nevada legislators, physicians and other citizens of this State who have been active in their efforts to convince the California people of the true inwardness of the sawdust nuisance are deserving of especial commendation.

Dwelling House Burned.

The Italians two story dwelling house on the "Marysville ranch," about four miles south of Reno took fire about 8 o'clock last evening and was entirely consumed, together with all their seed for next summer's crop. It was not learned whether or not there was any insurance on the burned property.

A Safeguard.

The fatal rapidity with which slight Colds and Coughs frequently develop into the gravest maladies of the throat and lungs, is a consideration which should impel every prudent person to keep at hand, as a household remedy, a bottle of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL.

Nothing else gives such immediate relief and works so sure a cure in all affections of this class. That eminent physician, Prof. F. Sweetser, of the Maine Medical School, Brunswick, Me., says:—

"Medical science has produced no other any-lyne expectorant so good as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It is invaluable for diseases of the throat and lungs."

The same opinion is expressed by the well-known Dr. L. J. Addison, of Chicago, Ill., who says:—

"I have never found, in thirty-five years of continuous study and practice of medicine, any preparation of so great value as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, for treatment of diseases of the throat and lungs. It not only breaks up colds and cures severe coughs, but is more effective than anything else in relieving even the most serious bronchial and pulmonary affections."

AYER'S Cherry Pectoral

Is not a new claimant for popular confidence, but a medicine which is to-day saving the lives of the third generation who have come into being since it was first offered to the public.

There is not a household in which this invaluable remedy has once been introduced where its use has ever been abandoned, and there is not a person who has ever given it a proper trial for any throat or lung disease susceptible of cure, who has not been made well by it.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL has, in numerous instances, cured obstinate cases of chronic Bronchitis, Laryngitis, and even acute Pneumonia, and has saved many patients in the earlier stages of Pulmonary Consumption. It is a medicine that only requires to be taken in small doses, is pleasant to the taste, and is needed in every house where there are children, as there is nothing so good as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL for treatment of Croup and Whooping Cough.

These are all plain facts, which can be verified by anybody, and should be remembered by everybody.

A PEDDLER'S DREAM.

What He Paid $25 for, and What He Got in Return.

It was only twelve or fourteen years ago that a queer thing happened near Medina, Ohio. A tin peddler who was driving a wagon for a firm in Cleveland, was taken sick one day in summer, as he was driving on the highway, and he sought shelter in a farm-house. He had a run of fever for seven or eight days, and when able to get out again, he said to the owner of the farm:—

"I am satisfied that there is a sum of money buried on your farm. I have seen the spot several times in my dream."

"Oh," replied the farmer, "if you can find any treasure here you are welcome to it."

"How much will you take to waive all claims?" persisted the peddler.

"Five dollars' worth of milk pans."

"If you will go to town and get a lawyer to draw up the papers in due form, I will give you $25 in cash."

The farmer tried to laugh the peddler out of his notion, but the man was so earnest in wishing to buy all rights to what he might find, that a paper was drawn up, the $25 paid over, and he was told to go ahead.

He replied that he was in no hurry, and mounted his wagon and drove home, but in about a fortnight he returned with a horse and wagon and a companion. Giving notice that he had come to claim his own, he proceeded to dig in a corner of the front yard, and before the hole was three feet deep he had unearthed a small stone jug, tightly corked.

It was broken on the grass-plot, and lying among the fragments were $3,000 in gold and silver coins.

None of the pieces had been coined within less than fifteen years, and the then owner of the place had occupied it for nine years, and knew that nobody could have buried the jug there meanwhile.

The peddler said that a very tall, dark-complexioned man, having a scar on his forehead and a limp in his gait, had repeatedly come to him in his dreams and pointed out the spot. The description exactly answered that of a hard case, who had been in the county jail for horse-stealing, and who had subsequently died in the penitentiary at Columbus.

However, the peddler had been so careful to purchase all rights in advance, and had walked so directly to the treasure, that the officials of the law made up their minds to investigate him. His find was seized against him he got possession of the treasure, and used it to buy an interest in the house he worked for.
